Community

Spanning 599 square miles, the Morgan county School District serves the educational needs of Morgan County, Alabama. Located in one of the region's fastest growing areas, the district enjoys a diversified economic base. Currently, the district consists of five high schools, three middle schools, four K-5 schools, and six K-8 schools.

The Priceville community is the fastest growing area in Morgan County. Most property within Priceville town limits is zoned as residential property. Typically, large tracts of land in this area are subdivided for new home construction. Most of the new subdivisions being developed offer houses targeted at first time buyers or young families. This has led to a steady increase in enrollment at the local elementary school and will eventually lead to an increase in enrollment at our middle school and eventually at Priceville High School.
